Emily Loftiss moved to New York after finishing her bachelor's degree in Choreography and Performance and minoring in Theater from the University of Alabama. She has been working as a professional dancer, singer, choreographer and model while living in New York City. She was in the original cast of "PEEPSHOW" a Multi-Million dollar show Directed/Choreographed by Jerry Mitchell in Las Vegas and participated in the workshop for "Leap of Faith," directed by Oscar winner Taylor Hackford. She was on the Broadway First National Tour of Dirty Rotten Scoundrels and just recently finished her second season with Radio City Christmas Spectacular where she was a Rockette. Emily's choreography work includes preliminary and state level talent in the Miss America Program. She co-founded THE COMPETITIVE EDGE, which advises and prepares contestants for competition. To contact her for all rounds of competition: www.competitiveedgeconsultations.com

On television, she has twice appeared on The Late Show with David Letterman as a featured dancer, CBS's Vh1 Fashion Rocks with Nelly and Pharrel, CMT Top 20 Countdown, and was a Quarter finalist on MTV's WADE ROBSON PROJECT. She has danced on network commercials (Ab Infomercial-Knockout Abs, DKNY, Trojan Condom, Hardrock Trivia Game) and appeared in print work (including Vogue and Southern Living) and various industrials. www.emilyloftiss.com
